Dog

Description:

This funny looking dog layout is easy to make but is not fully functional since most of its branches are capped with a buffer piece (hence preventing the train from going anywhere). It could certainly be integrated into a larger layout to make it more functional but the goal here is simply to stimulate your child's imagination and allow him/her to think of different ways of using these track pieces by creating animal shapes. Think of train track pieces as puzzle pieces with an infinite number of possible variations!
